Hi John:

Please find attached hereto a DRAFT of the Order from last week. Please review and advise of any changes. I will next start working on our response to Mrs. Gentry's income and expense statement and forward to you for review upon completion.

With respect to getting a new job, of course, it helps our case if you do not have a job. However, I understand the economic circumstances. Could you just meet with the headhunter and go on interviews but not accept a job yet? I'd hate for you to get a job before the court decides pendente lite support because that would obviously obviate your need for any support. I think her having to pay you support also puts pressure on her to move this thing along because she's not going to like doing it.
